Proportion of the Illiterate Voters in the United States.

Representative Willis has prepared a most interesting table to accom-pany his bill for federal aid to education, which shows that illiteracy holds the balance of power in fourteen northern and all the southern states. In the thirty-eight states there are 1,871,217 illiterate voters. One voter in five cannot write his name in the southern states. Illiterate voters in South Carolina are more than one-balf; in Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia, one in two; while Missouri with one in nine, presents the best with one in nine, presents the best record. In the presidential election of 1876, New York, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana, California, Nevada, Ohio, Oregon, Wisconsin, Illinois, Rhode Island, Michigan and Pennsylvania were ranged on the side of illiteracy. In the last presidential contest thirty states in the union, with 298 electoral votes, were again within the dominvotes, were again within the dominion of sovereigns who could not read the very charter of their liberties. The majorities which they gave could have been overthrown by the com-bined vote of their illiterate voters, even if the majorities had been five times as great as they were. In 1876 sixty out of our seventy-six senators and 259 of the 292 representatives were in the grasp of illiteracy. In 1880 fifty-eight of our seventy-six senators and 292 of the 325 repre-sentatives were in states and districts entatives were in states and districts where illiterate voters held the balance of power.

Fred Douglass' Parents.

He frankly says he did not know his father, or who he was. "He is shrouded," says Donglass, "in a mystery I have never been able to penetrate. Slavery has no use for either father or families. My knowledge of the months is years seenth but years. my mother is very scanty, but very distinct. She was full and finely proportioned, of deep black, glossy com-plexion, had regular features, and among the other slaves was remark-ably sedate in her manners. We were separated when I was but an infant, and, of course, before I knew my mother from any one else. I remember only in her visits to me on Col. Lloyd's plantation, and in the kitchen of my old master. Her visits to me there were few in number, brief in duration and mostly made in the night. The pains she took and the talk she endured to see the college. toils she endured to see me tells me that a true mother's heart was hers, and that slavery had not paralyzed it with unmotherly indifference."

The following letter tells its own story. The signature will be recognized as that of the Physician-in-Chief of the De Quincy Home, and author of "Drugs That Enslave," "The Hypodermic Injection of Morphine," A Manual of Nursing," and many other popular and valuable special medical works:

191 WEST TENTH STREET, NEW YORK, August 11, 1880.

MESSTS. SEARCRY & JOHNSON, Gentlemen:-Like most of my profession, I am cautious about pinning my fai h to any new medicine or curative agent. But your BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, has broken through the barriers and won its way to my good opinion. My attention was first called to it some eight months ago by a patient of mine Although I was well acquainted with the superior excellence of your other plaster and antiseptic dressing, made especially for the profession, the Benson's was comparatively new to me. I had heard, however, of its merits as a remedy, in cases of Lame Back, Local Rheumatism, Neuralgia. Congestion of the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver and the like affections, and have since begun to experiment with it personally. I find BENSON'S CAPCINE PLASTER an exceptionally cleanly plaster to use, and rapid in its action

Many tests of its qualities, made in my own family and among my patients have convine od me that there is no single article so valuable for popular use, nor so helpful in the diseases I have named. Should you desire to do so, you may use my name to that effect.

Very truly yours H. H. KANE, A. M., M. D. The geouine have the word CAPCINE cut in the center. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
